The Whitinsville Water Company is headquartered in the Town of Northbridge (~~Northbridge~~) which is in the Blackstone River Valley of south-central Massachusetts. Situated between Interstates 90, 146, 395, and 495, today the Blackstone Valley has good highway and rail access to the ports, airports, and intermodal facilities of Worcester, Providence, and Boston. Three rivers flow through Northbridge: the Blackstone River, running north to south, and two of its major tributaries – the West River which runs through the southeast corner of Northbridge, and the Mumford River, which originates in Sutton and cuts eastward across Northbridge to join the Blackstone in Uxbridge. The area offers many opportunities for hiking, camping, boating, fishing, and other outdoor activities alike.
